

Our Commitment to Free and Dignified Food Access

At UHC – Hub of Opportunities, we believe that access to food is a basic human right.

We are committed to providing free, unconditional, and dignified food assistance to individuals and families experiencing food insecurity in our community.

What This Means for You

- Food is always provided at no cost.
You will never be asked to pay for food or make a donation in order to receive support.
- There are no conditions or requirements
Access to food is not tied to:
 - Volunteering
 - Donations
 - Participation in programs or events
 - Attendance at faith-based activities
 - Any other form of obligation or expectation
- Everyone is welcome
We provide food assistance without discrimination. No one will be denied access based on race, ethnicity, gender, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation, or any other personal characteristic.
- Your dignity and privacy matter
We are committed to treating everyone with respect, compassion, and confidentiality. Any information we collect is used only for operational, safety, or reporting purposes and never to limit access to food. If you choose not to provide optional information, you will still receive service.

Our Promise

UHC is here to support you.

Our services are designed to be inclusive, respectful, and barrier-free, so that everyone who needs food assistance can access it safely and with dignity.

If you have questions or concerns about our services, please speak with a staff member or volunteer — we are here to help.

UHC provides food assistance freely, without judgment, conditions, or cost.
